Romeo Blackburn - Killed by Bullet Shot by Zampogna

Dixon Man Felled in Attempt to Invade Home Last Night

Romeo Blackburn, 28, of this city, was fatally wounded last night about 10:30 at the home of Joseph Zampogna, 511 Highland avenue, when he was shot in the head with a .22 caliber revolver, death taking place at the Katherine Shaw Bethel hospital at 12:05. Held as a material witness in the shooting affray is Peter Uzso, former Dixon state hospital patient, who was ordered released from the institution following a habeas corpus hearing in the Lee county circuit court on Oct. 29, 1943.

Dixon police were summoned to the Zampogna home last night at 10:30 where it was reported that serious trouble was in progress, and upon arrival found Blackburn lying in the yard south of the residence, bleeding from a head wound and in an unconscious condition. An ambulance was summoned and he was removed to the hospital where death occurred shortly after 12 o'clock midnight.

Zampogna was taken into custody by the officers and removed to the office of State's Attorney M. C. Pires for questioning in connection with the shooting. For several years Zampogna has been employed as flagman at the Seventh street Illinois Central crossing and he was reported to have readily admitted having fired several shots at two men, whom he believed to have been hit, while demanding to be admitted to his home. During the investigation Zampogna was alleged to have stated that he was asleep in his room when two men came to his home. He was aroused by his wife and going to the bed room window on the second floor of his home, identified Romeo Blackburn and a second man whom he called "Frank" standing in the yard.

They demanded to be admitted and used abusive language directed at both Zampogna and his wife, the statement was said to have continued, while Zampogna ordered them to leave. When they insisted and kicked against the door Zampogna secured the .22 caliber revolver and fired two shots into the air to frighten them away. In reply to this one of the men was reported to have told Zampogna to cease firing the blank cartridges and open the door. At this point, Zampogna fired directly at the two men and saw one fall to the ground. The second man attempted to remove his fallen companion, but when he observed that he had been struck, fled from the yard.

When taken in custody at his rooming house at 421 East First street this morning at 3 o'clock, officers stated that Uzso denied any knowledge of the shooting affray and denied that he had been in company with Blackburn at any time last night. After being identified as having been Blackburn's companion, Uzso was said to have admitted his presence at the Zampogna home at the time of the shooting last night, and giving as his reason for denying his presence that he was too badly frightened.

Zampogna after being questioned and making a statement of the alleged circumstances which occurred at his home, was taken to (Continued on Page 2)

Yanks Record Gains in Leyte Fight, 15 Communities Freed

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Leyte, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Fast-moving American doughboys have carved out a solid 40-mile-long invasion front of Leyte island and have surged deeper inland to free an additional 15 communities, a communique reported today.

The general advance continued, despite increased Japanese resistance west of Palo, in the north-central sector, and a counter-attack which was repulsed on Samar island. American guns and planes bagged 76 Japanese aircraft during "intermittent harassment raids" on the invasion armada.

The Americans secured control of Leyte's eastern coast, from the northern tip to Dulag, when the 10th and 24th army corps joined forces. The juncture was made south of American-held Tanauan, some 10 miles below Tacloban.

Simultaneously, the southern end of the Leyte valley trap was being closed tighter by tank-led doughboys who captured two key towns in a double-pronged drive that overran several communities off the main highways.

Buri, previously by-passed because of its strong defenses, was captured after severe fighting by the 7th Division forces punching up the valley's north-south highway. They previously took the Buri airfield and advanced several miles along the highway from the captured road junction of Buraen. Their main immediate goal evidently is Dagami, a communications town near the center of the roadway.

The 96th division, pushing inland from the coast toward Dagami captured Tabon Tabon, a river town eastward. The town is 5 1/2 miles west of Catmon hill, where strong Japanese entrenchments have been encircled.

The 24th Division, attempting to close the northern end of the Leyte trap, encountered increasing Japanese opposition in its advance westward from Palo.

Churchill Reports Workable Agreement Reached at Moscow

Problems of Southeast Europe Settled; Pole Problem Remains Acute

London, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill told commons today "a very good working agreement" had been reached with Russia on the problems of southeastern Europe, but acknowledged his efforts to end the Russian-Polish dispute, prime objective of his mission to Moscow, had not proved successful.

Likening himself to a wandering minstrel of diplomacy, Churchill said he and President Roosevelt should confer with Marshal Stalin before the year ends. But he declared that "all is solid, sure and sound" among the three allies.

The prime minister summed up the results of his conferences with Stalin as "highly satisfactory" and underscored the necessity for dispersing misunderstandings and forestalling them before they occur.

"I am quite sure," he added, "that no final result can be obtained until the heads of the three governments have met together, as I earnestly trust they may do before this war is out."

"At Quebec," he said, "the president and I felt very much the absence of Russia. At Moscow, Marshal Stalin and I were deeply conscious that the president was not with us although in his case the American observer Mr. Averell Harriman the accomplished Ambassador of the United States, made us feel at all times the presence of the great republic."

In one of the shortest reports he has ever made after a major conference Churchill spoke only about 30 minutes. Commons granted his previously expressed plea that it refrain from using the report as the basis for a general policy debate.

He touched briefly upon the military situation.

Asserting that "we are in the last lap" of the European war Churchill declared:

"Let all hope die in German breasts that there will be the slightest division or weakening among the forces that are crowding in upon them and will crush the life out of their resistance."

While he said recognition of the French provisional government heralded return of France to her (Continued on Page 2)

Nazi Assault Runs Into Fire Curtain on Holland Sector

Desperate Attack on 10-Mile Front Fails, Front Line Says

London, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Field Marshal Gen. Walter von Model's Germans leaped into a counter-attack along a 10-mile front against the eastern side of the British salient in Holland today after a heavy artillery barrage.

The attack, which was spread from the Dutch town of Venlo on the German border south to Roermond, in a sector last reported held by American armor, ran into a wall of fire and steel, front line dispatches said.

Von Model was striking desperately to relieve his forces caught in a series of tightening pincers in west Holland.

Canadian forces fighting on both sides of the Scheldt in westward advances to open Antwerp were reinforced by British troops who landed on South Beveland island north of the estuary and established a seven-square-mile beachhead.

Gain Deep Bridgehead Berlin accounts said this bridgehead was "several kilometers deep" and was in the neighborhood of Hoedekenskerke, 5 1/2 miles ahead of Canadian spearheads driving into the island from the east.

A second attempt to land several thousand troops in American amphibian tanks and landing craft at Hansweert, to the east of this bridgehead and across the South Beveland canal just ahead of the Canadian spearhead was broken up this morning, the Germans declared.

Field dispatches said several towns were captured in the beachhead by the British who crossed the three-to-five-mile wide Scheldt at 4 a. m., yesterday, swarmed up the 20-foot dike and surprised thinly strung German machine-gunners. The beachhead was strengthened throughout the day yesterday by a ferry service.

Smash Toward Meuse

The British, after a 15-mile westward drive in five from their Nijmegen salient, had hemmed the Germans into a collapsing box and were smashing toward the Maas (Meuse) and Hollandsch diep.

S. Hertogenbosch, eastern corner of the box, was in British hands. Tilburg, a city of nearly 100,000 twelve miles to the southwest in the center of the line, was almost surrounded, with the allies in the outskirts. The British were fighting at Zundert, nine miles south of Breda to the west, and the Canadians were within two miles of Roosendaal and about as close to Bergen op Zoom at the western end of the line.

The Germans had moved their headquarters from Tilburg to north of the Maas and today's supreme headquarters commun-

Heavy Rain Impedes Armies in Italy

Rome, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Eight army forces advancing up the Po valley along highway 9 toward Bologna have come up against heavy German defenses two miles east of Forli, allied headquarters announced today.

British and Canadian troops reached the Ronco river on a broad front and at several points patrols crossed the swollen stream but were withdrawn following sharp German counterattacks with tanks.

Heavy rain fell over both the Eighth and Fifth army fronts and generally impeded progress in all sectors. In the central sector before Bologna, in one area it was necessary to transport supplies first five miles by jeep then five miles by mule and four miles by infantrymen.

American troops on Mount Baldo threw back a heavy German counterattack and other doughboys captured Il Poggio and Mount Mezzano, west of Veduggio, which is five miles south of the Bologna-Rimini highway town of Castel San Pietro.

Naval Air Outfit, Japanese Scourge, Is Homeward Bound

Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Oct. 24.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Navy Air Group Two, which put its fiery curse upon 402,050 tons of Japanese shipping and 530 Japanese planes from Makin to Manila during less than a year of combat, is homeward bound for rest and reassignment.

The group, stationed aboard an Essex class carrier since last March, established a record for carrier aircraft by shooting down 261 enemy planes and destroying 275 on the ground, while an attached detachment of night fighters shot down an additional 11 planes.

Most of the enemy aircraft were destroyed by the group's fighter squadron, while the divebomber and torpedo bomber squadrons accounted for most of the 27 Japanese vessels, totaling 122,350 tons, sunk, the 22—of 64,250 tons—probably sunk, and the 123 vessels of 215,150 tons damaged.

Fighter Two established a hand-ful of records of its own—261 planes shot down and 245 destroyed on the ground, at the cost of three fighter pilots; 67 planes shot down in one day; 177 planes shot down, without loss of a fighter, during a two-week period in the Bonin-Marianas area.

The squadron skipper, Comdr. William Arthur Dean, Jr., 32, "Coronado, Calif., described this as the greatest toll of enemy aircraft in comparative periods exacted by any carrier fighter squadron.

Roosevelt Departs on "Crucial" Tour of Election Spoils

Lists Appearances at Quaker City, Chicago, Camden, Wilmington

En Route to Philadelphia with President Roosevelt, Oct. 27.—(AP)—President Roosevelt—off for two days of fourth-term campaigning in a territory rich with electoral votes—headed for Philadelphia today for the first of two major outdoor speeches.

His two-day tour will give him appearances in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Indiana and Illinois—a sharply contested region with a combined total of 35 electoral votes.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early said Roosevelt's address tonight in Philadelphia's Shibe Park will "in the main have to do with the basic policy of the war." Tomorrow night he speaks in Chicago. The Chicago subject hasn't been announced but Mr. Roosevelt's followers expect a reply to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's honesty-in-government speech, delivered in the same city Wednesday.

He will give informal talks from his train platform at Wilmington, Del., today and at Wayne, Ind., Saturday afternoon. In between he'll tour Camden, N. J., and nearby shipyards and head an automobile cavalcade through Philadelphia.

Early said the president's train would travel to Chicago by a "southern route" not through New York. Asked about a stop in Ohio, he said: "I don't know of any and haven't heard of any."

The president, away from Washington without the secrecy of wartime censorship for the second time in a week, took with him an itinerary crowded with train platform appearances and motorcade tours reminiscent of his four-hour procession through New York City last Saturday.

The trip is the most ambitious yet undertaken by the head of the fourth-term ticket—42 reporters and photographers are aboard the "presidential train."

Reportedly cheered by reaction reports from his appearance in New York last week the president was pictured by visitors as being optimistic of victory as he prepared for today's trip.

Tonight's speech, beginning at 9 p. m. eastern war time, will be broadcast by CBS and Mutual. Saturday's speech in Chicago will be from 9 to 9 30 p. m. eastern war time and will be broadcast by NBC and the Blue networks.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

They say it's an ill wind that blows nobody good but the only comfort the Japanese can get out of the Yankee hurricane which they ran into off the Philippine archipelago is that their disaster was no worse.

With more facts about this historic engagement at hand—though the story is far from complete—we now can say with assurance that the Japanese have suffered not only a major defeat but a decisive one. It's decisive in that it guarantees the allies success in the great and difficult battle of the Philippines. And since these islands are the key to the war in the Pacific, we know that this conflict will be greatly shortened.

The Japs lost more than 27 important ships—how many more remains to be confirmed. These included 10 battleships which Secretary of the Navy Forrestal estimates as representing two-thirds of all Japan had of these leviathans.

It may help us to assess the full significance of the catastrophe that has overtaken the Mikado's navy if we recall what happened to us at Pearl Harbor in 1941.

The brigands from the Orient sank or damaged 18 of our warships—and eight of these were battleships. That pretty well hamstrung us in the Pacific for a long time, and vastly contributed to the enemy success in over-running strategic islands.

Well, that's the mistfortune—multiplied—which now has been handed back to the Japanese. But their position is desperate, for they haven't the resources to recover from the blow as did the United States. They no longer are capable of doing the things that we can do. They are no longer a naval power. They are no longer a world power. They are no longer a threat to our peace. They are no longer a threat to our security. They are no longer a threat to our life.

What chance has the Japanese fleet in face of all this? I think we may expect it to pull out of the South China sea and return to the defensive. Probably much of it will be retained in home waters to shield the motherland against the allied assault which already is boiling up.

This means that Nippon—at least short of warships to guard her long and vulnerable communications to the East Indies—is still further weakened in this respect. Upon those communications rests her ability to continue the war, for she is dependent on Java and other Indonesian territory for numerous vital supplies.

Beaumont Gas Storage Tanks Shook by Fire

Beaumont, Tex., Oct. 27.—(AP)—A spectacular fire which followed two earth-shaking explosions reportedly set off by a leaky pipe at the big Magnolia Petroleum Company refinery early today was confined to gas storage tanks.

Two men were hurt. No immediate estimate of the loss was available.

The plant is situated in a residential area and residents felt the blasts over a 10-mile area and saw flames shoot 150 feet skyward.

L. F. Bardine, fireman on a switch engine, was treated for hand and leg burns, and another man on the train was reported hurt. A member of the train crew said the engine, operating near the refinery, was enveloped in a "wall of flames."

Japs Seize Chinese City; Rush Onward

Chungking, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Japanese troops have captured the important communications center of Ningyuan, 110 miles east of Kweichow, in a southward drive from Kiyang that has carried 60 miles in eight days, the Chinese high command announced today.

A communique said the Japanese made the sweeping thrust from Kiyang to safeguard the left flank of their Kwangsi offensive as Chinese troops jabbed at the enemy right flank.

Chinese troops gained nine and one-half miles southward in the move against the Japanese right flank from recently recaptured Sinning, 90 miles north of Kweichow.

Dewey Opens Final White House Drive in Eastern States

Selects Syracuse, N. Y. For Traditional Farm Speech Tomorrow

(By The Associated Press) His western campaign ended, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey started his stretch drive for the presidency today by lining up a schedule of appearances in New York state and New England.

The Republican nominee will travel to Syracuse tomorrow for a major farm speech, (11:30 a. m. CWT). Traditional of national campaigns, but for which a candidate ordinarily selects a setting in the agricultural middle west.

The New York governor had scheduled such a speech in Minneapolis, but seized the opportunity, instead, to reply to President Roosevelt's foreign policy talk.

The GOP candidate left unannounced the subject of a Tuesday night speech at Buffalo, apparently to leave the way open if he feels called upon to answer anything President Roosevelt might say in talks at Philadelphia tonight and in Chicago tomorrow night.

Governor John W. Bricker of Ohio, the Republican vice presidential nominee, told an Enid, Okla., audience that "if the New Deal wants to extend the wartime controls, it will find some authority in the language of statutes to do so, and besides it has a New Deal attorney general and supreme court to help it."

But ex-Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the War Production Board said in a broadcast from Washington, "The president encouraged and supported the WPA in its policy of fair play for business. We used our powers as a national authority to essential war purposes. The president has the know-how for great leadership."

Bricker will speak again tonight, over NBC from Kansas City at 9:30 p. m. CWT, on "The Record of President Roosevelt in International Relations and in National Defense."

The word businessmen dislike especially—"bankrupt"—came into a radio debate at New York between Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) and Interior Secretary Ickes.

Green Predicts U. S. Business Reversal if FDR Wins Again

Believes Dewey's Men Could Prevent Drop; Other Political News

Chicago, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Gov. Dwight D. Green, Republican nominee for re-election for a second term, says, "X" that depression which was still with us before the war X X will be with us again after the war unless we have the confidence in government that only Tom Dewey and a Republican administration can restore."

The Illinois governor spoke yesterday at a party rally in suburban Maywood while other Republican state candidates continued their intensive drive against the Roosevelt administration.

In a radio address, Conrad F. Becker, Red Bud, candidate for state treasurer, said that the president had "voted nearly every bill for veteran" and "the American people know that man can not be trusted to treat their soldiers sons and daughters fairly X X."

The party candidate for the U. S. Senate, Richard J. Lyons in another broadcast said that the right of small nations must be respected when peace resumes, and "the American people have not been taken into the confidence of the new deal in this respect."

At a Rockford meeting, Lieut. Gov. Hugh Cross, candidate for re-election, speaking of the Democratic vice-presidential candidate, Sen. Harry S. Truman, said:

"God grant that whoever is elected president on Nov. 7 may be spared to serve his term of office, but we must prepare for any and all eventualities X X. Is there anything in the record of this member of the former infamous Pendergast machine X X that indicates him to be of the caliber of a chief executive? Should Motorists Carry Widespread Accident Coverage

Washington, Oct. 27.—(AP)—If you're fed up on politics, you can argue about this:

Should an auto driver be compelled to carry liability insurance before he has an accident? Or should he be compelled to prove he can pay damages only after he has an accident?

This problem may bob up in a number of state legislatures next year. Here's the story:

The national conference on street and highway safety, back in 1926, helped draw up a "uniform vehicle code." This was a model traffic law recommended to the 48 states. More than 40 have adopted it in whole or part.

Every few years the conference—made up of representatives of federal, state and local motor vehicle authorities and of private organizations interested in traffic and safety—has reviewed the code.

Now the conference's committee on uniform traffic laws and ordinances has done another reviewing job.

The conference opposes compul-

Germans Evacuate East Prussia Path For Menacing Reds

Seizure of Important Center of Gumbinnen Is Imminent Today

BULLETIN
London, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Russian troops advanced 15 miles in Czechoslovakia today and captured Ungvar (Chenred), virtually completing the capture of the Carpatho-Ukraine which Hungary acted from the republic.

London, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Fall of the important East Prussian communications center of Gumbinnen appeared imminent today as the Germans announced evacuation of the civilian population from the path of onrushing Soviet forces.

A Moscow communique declared last night that the Red army had captured Grunwellschen, four miles southeast of Gumbinnen, and Guddin, seven miles east of the city.

Gumbinnen is 66 miles southeast of the provincial capital of Konigsberg from where German civilians already were fleeing in panic, according to an American commentator speaking over the Moscow radio.

The Russian communique said the Germans were offering fierce resistance in East Prussia as the Red army battled its way forward along the Kaunas-Konigsberg highway in hand to hand fighting in which at least 2,800 more nazis were slain.

Berlin, also reporting large scale battles, maintained the Russians had lost 900 tanks in 10 days and were being held except for "a few dents" on an 85-mile front from from Augustow in the south to the Niemen river in the north.

Other Russian forces driving through northern Finland captured six localities in the Pelsamo area. Moscow added that Soviet planes supporting the Norwegian invasion from Finland had sunk more than a dozen small German (Continued on Page 2)

Victory Toll Is Mounting For U. S. In Island Battle

Jap Gamble in the Philippines Was Disastrous To Tokio

Washington, Oct. 27.—(AP)—American losses in defeating the Japanese navy in the battle of the Philippines totaled six warships—the aircraft carrier Princeton, two escort carriers, two destroyers and a destroyer escort.

Names of the vessels, except the Princeton, which were lost, in sinking or damaging at least 27 Japanese warships, were not disclosed in the navy's brief communique today, pending notification of next of kin of casualties aboard the ships.

No details, the Navy said, are yet available on circumstances of the loss of the ships, which probably carried a total of about 3,900 men.

A large portion of this total per sonnel was aboard the light carrier Princeton from which Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Pacific fleet commander, has said more than 1,300 officers and men were rescued.

The lost carrier escorts each carried a complement of probably 1,000 men, and each had a squadron of more than 21 planes.

Destroyers carry a normal complement of about 200 men, and destroyer escorts about 160.

The six losses raise to 170 the number of warship definitely listed as sunk since the war started. In addition 38 American vessels are overdue and presumed lost. They include 27 submarines, and nine ships destroyed to prevent capture. The total of ships overdue or destroyed consequently comes to 217.

Great Victory Adds Sweetness to Gala Naval Anniversary

Birthday No. 169 Finds Fleet Exulted Over Great Sea Triumph

Washington, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The United States Navy proudly celebrated its 169th anniversary today, all hands jubilant over what may prove to be its biggest victory in battle.

Exultation is evident throughout the navy as word spreads of the crushing defeat handed the Japanese navy by the Pacific fleet.

But with it all there is a note of caution, from Navy Secretary Forrestal himself, who said last night that despite blasting of "30-odd Japanese warships" the enemy still has a sizeable fleet.

Regardless of the final count, there seems to be agreement that the Japanese fleet is crippled and never again can hope for any degree of success in a large scale naval engagement. It must confine efficient and logical operations to harassment of American convoys and small naval units.

One naval officer expressed much of the general elation of the navy at the Japanese "cooperation" in bringing about the Philippines battle, by declaring:

"Something to Celebrate
"The Japs really gave us something to celebrate on this Navy Day."

Outstanding as an example of the confidence of high naval officers in the strength and power of the fleet is the release for the first time of resumes of battle history of 103 major warships—and the naming of their commanding officers and oceans in which they operated as of the middle of August.

These resumes show that at least 16 battleships and 37 cruisers are on Pacific duty, and at least four battleships and 10 cruisers were in the Atlantic area at the time of the invasion of southern France.

Also the navy disclosed for the first time by name, the commissioning of two new battleships, the Wisconsin and Missouri, and two battle cruisers. It also said a new type of ship described unofficially as "pocket battleships" and eight new cruisers have been commissioned.

Throughout the nation today, celebrations of all types were held to commemorate the date in 1775 when the Continental Congress first received legislation creating an independent fleet.

search mission only 185 miles from Tokyo. "Fighter two has been in on every offensive carrier operation in the central Pacific, from Makin to Manila," said Lt. (jg.) Thomas L. Morrissey, Bound Brook, N. J., who presented squadron statistics at a mass interview here. Dean said the fighter squadron's team qualities were shown by the fact that there were no "buildup personalities," no "heroes" in the squadron, which boasted 28 aces. Dean himself was high man with 11 planes. High scorers were deliberately kept out of action to enable other men to score, and as a result every fighter pilot in the squadron has downed at least one plane.

WLB Says It'll Get Along Without AFL

Washington, Oct. 27 (AP)—The War Labor Board plans to work on through its important wage and living cost deliberations without the help of AFL labor members, who served notice they didn't like the board's procedure and were taking a walk for awhile. The decision of George Meany, AFL secretary-treasurer, and Walter Woll to take no further part in consideration of wage cases involving a change in the Little Steel Formula until the question of breaking it had been disposed by the board, was described by Chairman William H. Davis as "deeply regretted" by other members. But, said Davis, the discussion of the public members' proposed report to the president on the status of wage earners under the wartime boom economy, and a host of CIO union demands in war industries, will start next Tuesday as previously decided.

"Bud" and "Gay" Wed After Hectic Trials

Denver, Oct. 27 (AP)—Corp. and Mrs. Horace Elgin Dodge, III, are honeymooning today in a small three-room apartment. The affable young heir to the Dodge motor fortune and his college sweetheart, the former Margery Gehman of Buffalo, N. Y., were married last night in a simple ceremony, without fairs or frills. No relatives were present. The wedding climaxed six days of uncertainty since "Bud" 21, and "Gay", 20, announced last Saturday their plans to be married. First the bridegroom's father, Maj. Horace E. Dodge, Jr., thrice married and divorced, announced he would try to stop the marriage, set for Tuesday night. Then the elder Dodge gave his consent if the young couple would wait for him to come to Denver. Finally Maj. Dodge notified his son he was trying to charter a plane at Louisville, Ky., but probably would not be able to attend. "We've waited as long as could be expected," the couple announced. Bud obtained an additional military pass and the wedding went through.

Vacuum Cleaners Back After Reich Falls

Washington, Oct. 27 (AP)—The War Production Board estimated today that Germany's defeat will permit vacuum cleaner manufacturers to restore production to 70 per cent of the 1939 rate, thus permitting the output of 1,430,000 units in the first year. Present WPB spot authorizations call for fewer than 200,000 of the cleaners to be turned new and next October 1 due to war orders. The industry was converted to war production in April, 1942.

100,000 Japs Knocked Out in Burma Fight

London, Oct. 27 (AP)—More than 100,000 Japanese have been killed or knocked out of action in Burma, Brigadier S. F. Irwin, a veteran of 26 years in the Indian army, said today. "By winning the battle of the Burma border we shattered Japanese hopes for the conquest of India," he declared at a press conference.

42 Superforts Shot Out of Air; Japan

New York, Oct. 27 (AP)—A broadcast Japanese imperial headquarters communique recorded by the FCC today asserted that Japanese planes had destroyed 42 Superfortresses and set 15 more on fire in a raid last night on an American air base at Chengtu, China. There was no allied confirmation of such a raid.

Trio of Doctors Win Noble Prizes for Medical Work

Stockholm, Oct. 27 (AP)—Nobel prizes in medicine have been awarded four scientists now in the United States, three of them Americans, it was announced last night by the Nobel Foundation. Joseph Erlanger, professor of physiology at Washington University, St. Louis, and Herbert Spencer Gasser of New York, director of the Rockefeller Institute, were the recipients of 1944 awards for their studies of the individual nerve threads. Edward Adelbert Doisy, professor of biochemistry at the St. Louis (Mo.) University School of Medicine, and Henrik Dam of Copenhagen, now at Strong Hospital, Rochester, N. Y., shared the 1943 award, which was made after a year's delay. It was given for the discovery of the chemical nature of the "K" vitamin. The 1943 award was worth 123,690 kroner ($20,500.07) and the 1944 award was worth 121,841 kroner ($20,059.08). They will be divided by the winners. Two prizes also may be awarded this year in physics, two in chemistry and one in literature. It was indicated. Mentioned as possible winners of the literature award, which probably will be announced on Nov. 9, were Johannes V. Jensen, Danish author of "The Long Journey," and Carl Sandburg, the American poet. There again will be no award for peace this year. None has been made since 1935. The prizes are offered under provisions of the will of Alfred B. Nobel, Swedish scientist who invented dynamite. The amount of each prize varies with the income of the $9,000,000 fund set up by the will.

Bard Says Japanese Are Fighting Deadlock

Los Angeles, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Japanese are fighting for a stalemate, and the enemy strategy is to make the most of American victories as high as possible, Navy Undersecretary Ralph A. Bard declared today. At the same time they hope to convince this nation that a compromise peace with Japan "is not only possible but desirable", Bard said in an address prepared for delivery at a Navy Day luncheon. "In the light of those plans, their only hope is to prolong hostilities as long as possible in the belief that a great wave of weariness will sweep over America after the defeat of Germany", he added. Reviewing the development of the U. S. fleet, Bard said the Navy now has on hand more than 1,350 combatant ships and an armada of 45,207 landing craft, 5,000 smaller vessels and 34,071 aircraft. The fleet, he said, includes 23 battleships, 14 carriers of the Essex class, nine of the independent class, 65 escort carriers of smaller tonnage and more than twice as many destroyers and destroyer escorts and more than twice as many submarines as in 1940. Dr. Doisy, 51, a native of Hume, Ill., distinguished himself for his work on blood buffers and six harmones as well as vitamin "K". From 1932-35 he was a member of the League of Nations committee on standardization of sex harmones. He was graduated from the University of Illinois in 1914 and later received honorary degrees from Washington University and Yale, in 1940.

sory liability insurance for auto drivers. One of the reasons: That is forces saved rivers to take out insurance because there are bad drivers. Prior to its meeting this month the committee had proposed: That a driver—convicted of a major traffic offense or against whom a court judgment had been rendered for an accident—would suffer suspension of his license until he had paid the judgment or made provision against future liability by taking out insurance. You see what this means: A driver didn't have to prove financial responsibility until he had a bad traffic record or lost a court suit. But now the committee wants to change that a bit. What the committee says now is this: Not only the driver who causes damage—but the person whose car is damaged—must show financial responsibility after an accident. The various groups which make up the conference will try to make state legislatures—most of them meet in 1945—see things their way and pass laws accordingly. There'll probably be sturdy fights in the legislatures—if they listen to this proposal at all—before anything is done about it.

official reports still incomplete are: Two carriers, five cruisers and one battleship definitely sunk; one carrier and two battleships probably sunk; and seven battleships, four cruisers, four destroyers and "several" more destroyers damaged. This makes a total of 26, plus the "several destroyers". Another cruiser subsequently was reported hit, bringing the toll to 27.

JAP FLEET WRECKED

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Oct. 27 (AP)—A Japanese naval disaster, threatening momentarily to surpass Nippon's 35-warship tragedy of 1942 Guadalcanal, stemmed today "on an amazing gamble which actually succeeded in getting enemy warships perilously close to America's invasion beaches on Leyte."

The confirmed sinking or damaging of 27 warships, including three carriers and 10 battleships in a trio of naval-air encounters off the Philippines, tells a far from completed story. Remnants of the once proud imperial fleet which, it now can be disclosed, actually penetrated Leyte gulf and attacked transports engaged in Gen. Douglas MacArthur's landings, still were rendered less a threat. MacArthur announced today his land-based liberators have damaged an enemy light cruiser in the Mindanao set. But, without the continuing achievement, the already accomplished blows promise to lift Japan's losses beyond the 35 warships sunk or damaged off Guadalcanal in November, 1942. Several enemy destroyers are known to have gone down which are not included in the confirmed 27.

Today, Vice Adm. Thomas C. Kinkaid, whose outnumbered seventh fleet turned the tide from threatened disaster into history, making triumph in Leyte gulf, made clear much more remains to be catalogued officially. It was Kinkaid who split up his fleet, took on two enemy warship forces converging on the Leyte invasion scene and trounced both while submarine, warships and carrier planes of Adm. William F. Halsey, Jr.'s third fleet surprised and dealt mortal blows on enemy flattops attempting a sneak punch from Formosa waters.

Today Kinkaid told Dean Schedler, Associated Press war correspondent in the Philippines, that the Japanese risked from 39 to 46 warships in the two battles near Leyte and only 20 retired. That general summary suggested from 19 to 26 enemy ships were bagged although it did not differentiate between sunk and damaged. But the 20 which got away were pursued by planes and, doubtless, as yet undisclosed damage was heaped on them. MacArthur-Nimitz communications on the two battles near Leyte, plus a flagship dispatch from Rear Adm. Daniel Barbey, listed 14 enemy warships confirmed as sunk or damaged in those two battles.

Eight of the 14—two battleships, a cruiser and a destroyer were damaged. Twelve more of the 27 confirmations have come as incomplete reports on Halsey's powerful blows dealt south of Formosa. It is known that two enemy carriers and two cruisers were sunk, a large carrier and two battleships probably sunk, two battleships and three cruisers damaged.

The 27th confirmation was the light cruiser hit by Liberators in the Mindanao sea, a sector through which one segment of the Japanese fleet naturally would flee after being forced back through Surigao strait. This was the fleet group which approached Leyte from the southeast and actually penetrated the gulf.

When American fighter planes dropped through clouds Tuesday (Wednesday Philippines time) pilots scarcely could believe their eyes when they saw Japanese battleships, cruisers and destroyers between Leyte island and U. C. carriers.

Ens. William Robinson, Westfield, Mass., said it "looked like the whole Japanese fleet." Kinkaid's estimate of perhaps 46 enemy warships sent into action through narrow straits of the Philippines was added to the known 12 sent south of Formosa. That means at least 58 enemy warships were committed by Japan in its great gamble to break up the Philippines invasion. Of course, the figure is much higher because there were still other units of the Formosa group, including "a number of destroyers." There are reports that this group even comprised the bulk of the imperial fleet. Attempting surprise, it was surprised.

pan in its great gamble to break up the Philippines invasion. Of course, the figure is much higher because there were still other units of the Formosa group, including "a number of destroyers." There are reports that this group even comprised the bulk of the imperial fleet. Attempting surprise, it was surprised. The American losses acknowledged were in striking contrast with those inflicted on the enemy. A light American carrier, the 10,000-ton Princeton, and an escort carrier and destroyers undisclosed number of patrol torpedo boats were lost. Several escort carriers and destroyers were damaged.

JAPANESE CLAIMS

(By The Associated Press)
Destruction of six Japanese warships, including an aircraft carrier and a battleship, in the three-pronged naval-air battle off the Philippines was admitted by Imperial Japanese headquarters in a broadcast today.

The broadcast, recorded by the Federal Communications, said the other four warships sunk were two cruisers and two destroyers. It added that one carrier and one carrier and one battleship were "substantially damaged." Imperial headquarters also toned down its claims of purported American losses. They claimed 17 American ships had been sunk and 10 damaged from Oct. 24 to Oct. 26. Those assertedly sunk included eight aircraft carriers, three cruisers, two destroyers and more than four transports. Seven U. S. carriers, one battleship and two cruisers, the Japanese said, were damaged.

In addition imperial headquarters reported 500 American planes were shot down. Berlin broadcast a Tokyo dispatch today saying that the Japanese fleet had retired after its raid on allied naval units in Leyte bay. The dispatch said Japanese planes still were conducting operations in the area.

Dewey Opens Final

"bankrupt in principle, bankrupt in policies, bankrupt in personnel." He said that "every time the New Deal got its hands on a home-front job," that job was badly done. Lockes rejoined that Republican nominee Thomas E. Dewey has shown a "Tinker Toy approach to foreign affairs," and "Mr. Dewey's falsifications and distortions have demonstrated that he does not have the character for the highest office in the land."

Boos and heckling, mixed with applause, helped make it quite a debate. Senator Truman, Democratic vice presidential nominee, departed from a farm speech at Peoria, Ill., to declare, "the isolationists are desperate to win this election. The Hearst papers have even gone so far as to call me a member of the Ku Klux Klan. That charge is a falsehood. I never have been a member of the Klan or attended any of its meetings in my life."

Senator Ball (R-Minn.) broadened his foreign policy criticisms of Governor Dewey to declare in a Washington broadcast that Dewey has "failed to offer the American people a workable, constructive program" of taxation and labor relations.

The White House, in a statement, said that Dewey's criticism of a 7 per cent cut by the budget bureau in war department funds in 1939 overlooked the fact that these funds were increased 800 per cent above the previous years'.

like said the enemy had been forced to withdraw "all along the line" from Roosendaal to Tilburg. Continued pressure but not significant progress was reported by the communiques along the remainder of the west front. North of Aachen, units of the American First Army made minor gains against stubborn opposition. Northeast of Lunville, the Germans were cleared out of the Montcourt forest, and the high ground to the north, and several German counterattacks in this sector were repulsed. Slight progress was reported also northeast of Epinal and in the Vosges mountains.

Recent German losses on the western front included two major generals—Erich von Kirchbach, 58, and Fritz Reinhardt, 53—the Berlin radio announced last night.

Fix Pen, Pencil Prices at '42 Level

Washington, Oct. 27 (AP)—Dollar-and-cent retail price ceilings for fountain pens and mechanical pencils were fixed at March, 1942, levels today by the Office of Price Administration. The new regulation, covering pens and pencils shipped by manufacturers beginning Nov. 1, replaces a "freeze" type provision which set prices at the same 1942 level but has been ineffective, OPA said. It added that two years' limitation of production and great consumer demand, "have combined to cause excessive prices" under the old regulation.

Churchill Reports

rightful and historic role on the world stage", Churchill declared that the future of the world in the next few years depends upon united action by the United States, Russia and Britain. "Other countries," he said, "will be associated, but the future depends on the union of the three most powerful allies. If that fails all fails; if that succeeds a broad future for all nations may be assured."

"It is certainly not for want of trying," he said, adding: "I am quite sure, however, that we have got a great deal nearer to it."

The prime minister expressed the hope that Poland and Russia would lose no time in resuming their discussions "and bringing them to an effective conclusion."

He reported that never were Britain's relations with Russia "more close, intimate and cordial than at the present time" and that never had the two nations been able to discuss such "most delicate and potentially vexatious topics" with such frankness as was reached at Moscow.

"Where we could not agree," said Churchill, acknowledging for the first time publicly that there were differences still outstanding, "we understood the grounds for each other's disagreement and each other's points of view."

Christians Are Not Immune to Evil; Must Fight and Conquer Its Forces

Text: Psalm 1:5-8; Luke 4:4; John 6:35; Romans 12:1, 2; 13:12-14

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
These texts, widely chosen and in various connections, all have this in common—they emphasize the spiritual worth of life, and that its only true worth is spiritual.

The Psalmist answers those who say, "What's the use? Who will show us any good?" His answer in effect is, "Live right, and you will find out." "Offer the sacrifices of righteousness, and put your trust in the Lord." In his own life this has brought gladness of heart, and a deep sense of security. "I will both lay me down in peace, and sleep; for thou, Lord, only makest me dwell in safety."

These words will undoubtedly provoke challenging thoughts in many minds at a time when we know only too well that millions have been living in anything but peace and security. We know too, that many of the purest and noblest have lived in the greatest peril, bringing down upon them the tyrant's hand just because they were pure and noble, and refused to do his will.

What are we to say to these things? The Bible itself and the land and people of the Bible have given the answer. It tells how the innocent and the saintly have suffered with, and for, the guilty. It tells of trials and persecutions inflicted upon good men by evil men. The Book itself has come out of times like our own. It does not ignore evil, or the power of evil. Jesus himself did not offer his disciples immunity from hardship and pain.

But two things are to be said. First, even in trial and sorrow the worth of life and the sustaining power of God has again and again been revealed in marvelous ways. Terror and horror have not destroyed faith and hope in the darkest places of Europe and Asia.

And second, we must recognize that the Bible expresses the spiritual laws of normal life. Times of war and terror are abnormal in the life of humanity, and life as a whole vindicates the Psalmist. It is true, proven again and again, that right living does bring gladness, and peace, and a sense of safety. Even where men and women have died for their faith they have died with confidence in God. It is those who have persecuted them that have been unsafe, not they.

And today we are seeing God's ways and God's laws vindicated. We are seeing the powers of evil overthrown, and those who stode the world with swaggering boasting and ruthlessness are being cast from their places.

It is a good time to turn to our Bibles, and learn there the true art of living, and its Christian motive and incentive.

Aurora Soldier Wins Legion of Merit

Washington, Oct. 27—(AP)—The war department today announced award of the Legion of Merit to Pfc. Harry J. Coughlin, Aurora, Ill. His citation follows: "In action at Bougainville, Solomon island, March 17, 1944, he destroyed a Japanese field piece and killed the members of its crew. When the enemy had brought up the field piece to use against American-held pillboxes, he volunteered to undertake the hazardous mission of knocking it out of action. He crawled to within 30 yards of the gun and, because observation was poor, courageously exposed himself to intense small arms fire to sight his rocket launcher on the target. From a standing position he fired eight rockets, each time dropping to the ground to reload. His fearless tenacity and indomitable fighting spirit resulted in his destroying the gun and killing eight members of the crew."

A Thought for Today
As the Lord commanded Moses, his servant, so did Moses command Joshua, and so did Joshua, he left nothing undone of all that the Lord commanded Moses. — Joshua 11:15.

I find the doing of the will of God leaves me no time for disputing about His plans.— George MacDonald.

Great Americans, Great Men
For all the dissimilarity of their careers, Alfred E. Smith and Wendell Willkie were essentially alike—great and admirable men whose greatness was intrinsically and inescapably American.

Both won the highest honor that their parties could bestow in spite of handicaps of background which would have been fatal to the ambitions of lesser men. Both of them failed to win the presidency, and in each case the failure was due in a large part to their refusal to trade honest and honorable convictions for vote-winning compromises.

Al Smith learned his politics in the rough-and-tumble environment of a decidedly unsavory political machine. Wendell Willkie was innocent of any political experience when he was swept dramatically from a successful but unspectacular private life to the presidential nomination. It was easy for opponents to taunt them with shouts of "Tammany" and "Wall Street." It was impossible to smirch their characters or their motives.

A great liberal who didn't prate about it, Al Smith served as New York's governor in a day when the country's chief concern was with domestic affairs. It was a day of complacency, bigotry and hypocrisy, and Mr. Smith opposed all of them. He fought for social and governmental improvements when it would have been easier to maintain the status quo of general prosperity. He was devoutly and proudly Catholic. He thought the Eighteenth Amendment unfair, unworkable and un-American, and said so.

This was in 1925, when the Klan was still alive, when office holders drank wet and voted dry, when the Anti-Saloon league was a great power in American politics. Al Smith's beliefs cost him the presidency, but not his integrity.

Wendell Willkie came upon the scene at a time of world war and world thought. His political idealism crossed party lines and his burning convictions would not be curbed to the professional politician's bidding.

Mr. Willkie judged a man by his words and deeds, not by his party. He invited a similar judgment. He sought to convince, not to compromise. And his beliefs cost him not only the presidency, but later, his party's nomination. Perhaps this last disappointment hastened his death. But it was the disap-

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Washington, Oct. 26.—Governor Dewey is confident; Mr. Roosevelt is scared. This may not mean much. The president always gets scared just before election.

Two weeks before the vote on the third term he grossly underestimated his own victory. This time he has been frightened into campaign touring and speech making which are trying to his magnificent endurance.

The touring may be doing him some good, but each word he adds to the debate is proving to be fuel on Dewey's fire. There is not much in the record of the last few years to make sensational Democratic vote-getting material, and no grand promises could sound plausible in the confused state of the world. Silence worked his way better than his later public utterances.

I would not vouch for any story about Mr. R.'s health in campaign time unless it carried affidavits from a disinterested group of physicians who made an examination. The following one, borne around Washington by authoritative tongues, is worth relating only as "interesting, if true."

"This said the president's blood count is not high enough to warrant exertion and his physical advisers informed him they would not be responsible if he persisted in taking his current restricted campaign tour. His supposed reply is the interesting part of the story, something to the courageous effect that:

"If I have to go I would rather go that way than any other." (This is not a health story in the usual partisan sense and did not come from partisan sources.)

The Dewey people are genuine in their conviction that they will get at least five per cent more pointment not of an ambitious man, but of a man who carried his beliefs into battle with those who opposed them most strongly, and fought for them with noble courage.

Al Smith and Wendell Willkie rose to the heights in approved American manner, one from New York's tenement district, the other from a small town of rural Indiana. Both were men of great personal charm and compelling character. Both spoke unflinchingly the regional speech of their beginnings, which shocked the purists. But their words excited the admiration of millions, even when they did not win agreement. For they were the words of wise and compassionate minds, brilliantly informed, fiercely sincere.

* The country's loss in the passing of either of these men would be heavy at any time. But the death of both, particularly at this time, is grievously so. We need them in the days to come for their service as a sort of public conscience, in or out of office. For we knew that when they spoke it was always from the heart, never from expediency. And we knew that we would do well to listen and to weigh their words.

than the polls show as their vote—which would mean a Republican landslide. They reason that at least that average number of votes are concealed by fears—CIO men fearing Hillman, business men fearing income tax or labor retaliation, sailors fearing the admirals, etc.

Only a count of the secret ballots will disclose this inner balance of electoral power, they figure. Their estimate does not seem to be unreasonable.

I do have definite information that Roosevelt will have grave trouble with his electors in some of the southern states if the vote count offers any opportunity for them to bolt. If he gets an overwhelming vote, they cannot do anything, but if the results are anywhere near close there will be votes for Senator Byrd cast by some southern electors.

I know one southern state in which two-thirds of the Roosevelt electors today are anti-Roosevelt, and awaiting an opportunity to express themselves. This election could become a more serious national melee than the Hayes-Tilden contest if the outcome is close enough to make each electoral vote of consequence.

There are electors who think they and their areas have been dictatorially shanghaied to support Mr. R., and they are capable of action which would throw the election into the courts, house confusion or the Republican column, feeling as they do that they have aggrieved justification for nearly any step.

The extent to which the cheaper grade of politicians deceive themselves and their people in their frantic search for any kind of argument to win an election contest is less noticeable this year than usual—but not entirely absent. Both sides have behaved rather well as a whole.

Worst falsification on either side to date has been the left wing Democratic claim that Dewey was trying to keep the soldiers from voting. For the balancing truth look at the following incident, of which I have personal knowledge:

Two soldier citizens of South Carolina wrote for absentee ballots in that Democratic state. One was overseas, one in this country. Both received from South Carolina election officials a "Democratic ballot" which prevents them from voting for anyone except Roosevelt and the Democratic ticket.

It appears from evidence that I have that any soldier or citizen asking for a ballot in South Carolina receives a Democratic ballot and cannot vote Republican. To cast a Republican vote, a citizen there must openly ask for a Republican ballot and thus publicly disclose his vote.

This is not a violation of the Constitution as each state may rig its own election laws, but it is a scandalous variation of the free-voting secret ballot system of every other state that I know of.

Scientists say that when the barometer is falling, husbands and wives quarrel more, and children become more unruly when the barometer is falling.

An average pair of men's shoes contain about 100 pieces of steel, including eyelets, nails and shoe-lace tips.

The army is the only group besides the Schutz Staffel which possesses arms. If the army wants to show that it is anti-Nazi, it will disarm the Nazi horde.

The underground has had to retain its faith in part of the army in order to keep any faith at all. For where could they ever hope to get the weapons needed to rise up in arms against the Nazis, if not from army stores? Therefore the underground has watched for the day when soldiers and army groups would mutiny and then give the populace guns to use with them against the oppressors. They have been certain that the mutiny would come. They knew, also, that it would come only when Germany had suffered severe military reverses.

I asked several men, including a Communist underground leader, "Why should foreign countries, knowing that it was the army, backed by the industrialists and the Junkers, which faltered Hitler and the Nazis, suddenly assume that the army has changed and is fighting for a decent Germany?"

Two of the three men answered the question this way: "They should not bank too strongly on that. But it's worth a try."

"And if it should fail, it will still be time to act," another added. "What happens when an army knows it is defeated? The army wants peace. It wants to go home. The Nazis will fight to retain their grip on Germany. They have been trained for the last fight, trained for civil war. What will happen if allied soldiers march in? They won't reduce the bloodshed. On the contrary. They will suffer losses that might be avoided by making the German army do the cleaning up. And their presence might help the Nazis to stir up resentment and increase the strength of their guerrillas."

Those men know, as do the few foreigners who were in Germany long enough after the start of the war, that the Nazis have prepared very well indeed for the time when they might have to fight to keep their power. They have made ready to battle to retain power very much more fiercely than they fought to gain it.

Fair Enough

by WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright 1944, by King Features Syndicate)

New York, Oct. 26.—In March, 1942, the United States Supreme Court handed down a decision so ominous that even one of the lawyers for the defense, who thereby, unexpectedly, won his case, was shocked and disgusted. This was the opinion written by Justice James Byrnes, the faithful South Carolina machine politician of the new deal, the handshaker and congressional fixer for President Roosevelt, in the notorious teamsters' case.

Roosevelt had elevated Byrnes from the senate to the Supreme bench in the process of packing the court with his political henchmen. In this opinion, Byrnes came through so violently for the thugs and extortioners of the new deal's underworld subsidiary, masquerading as the chosen representatives of free labor, that the court, ever since, has been put to the necessity of wheedling "explanatory" propaganda out of its ideological and political friends to take the curse off the most violent affront to common decency, honesty and morals ever offered by an agency of the American government.

In this case, Thurman Arnold, himself a new dealer with reservations of eccentricities, in the role of assistant attorney general, prosecuted local 807 of the teamsters' union of the American Federation of Labor, and 72 individuals, under the anti-racketeering law. This is a New York case. This law was passed in 1933 after a senatorial investigation of racketeering, then a scourge on commerce and a tax on the cost of living of millions of citizens, in which gangs were the most conspicuous offenders. Gangs were the public did not realize that unions were even worse brigands.

After the first draft had passed the senate, however, William Green, the president of the A. F. of L. and Joe Padway, its general counsel, protested that it might restrict the legitimate activities of labor. Plainly it did not restrict any legitimate union activity for it forbade only the collection of money or attempts to collect money by force and violence or threats to use such force. Obviously such conduct is not a legitimate activity of any element of the community. A union has no more right to prey on commerce in this way than, say, the Capone gang.

Nevertheless, at the request, amounting to a political command of Green and Padway, and with the blessing of the new deal, the bill was amended by the department of justice to except from the criminal classification, "the payment of wages" by an employer to an employee.

Of the 72 original individual defendants in this case, 27 had criminal records. For example, one had a police history extending over 19 years, including one charge of grand larceny, two charges of burglary and one each of robbery and felonious assault. Shortly after Byrnes' decision this defendant was arrested again on a charge of atrocious assault and rape. Another had been convicted of forgery and, after the Byrnes decision, went to prison for robbery. Another had been convicted once of carrying a gun and twice for larceny. Altogether, they were not a pleasant crew.

Nevertheless, the new deal supreme court, in Byrnes' opinion, held that these men were within their rights, as union men, in extorting from the owners of "over the road" trucks entering New York from other states, $9.42 for each large truck and $8.41 for each small truck. These amounts represented the local New York union's scale for a whole day's work of a driver. The trucks approaching the city were manned by union drivers, members of the same international, or parent union, but members of other locals outside the city. They were not, in the main, regular, reliable, trusted drivers who could have delivered their trucks into New York without excessive hours of strain.

Byrnes admitted that the evidence proved that the defendants, including the convicted criminals among them, "did use violence and threats," and in several cases, "refused to work for the money when asked to do so."

In other words, they were stick-up men, as Chief Justice Stone pointed out in his contemptuous dissent and not bona fide employees.

For justification, Byrnes held that "any person who attempts to obtain the payment of wages" was

Predicts Huge Boom in Adult Education

Chicago, Oct. 27.—(AP)—C. E. Hostetler, chief of the Vocational Rehabilitation and Education division of the Veterans' Administration, Hines, Ill., predicts "one of the greatest waves of interest" in adult education the country has seen will take place after the war.

Addressing the Illinois Association of College Late Registrars yesterday, Hostetler said that between 800 and 900 discharged veterans already have started their training, and that his division had received approximately 2,500 veterans' applications for education under the G. I. bill.

He added that 90,000 of the 900,000 Illinois servicemen would be "going back to college" after the war.

"We can't argue with the Judge on that point, can we Mabel? It's not fair to penalize the many for the actions of the few."

"That, folks, is exactly what we would be doing in this country if we ever voted prohibition again. Authorities who have made a careful study of the problem, report that only about 5% of those who drink abuse the privilege occasionally...95% drink sensibly. Probably doesn't compare with the number of folks who overeat and do other things to excess. Prohibition certainly isn't the answer. It's not that simple. We had nearly 14 years proof of that, didn't we?"

"The real answer is education and better control. In fact, the responsible members of the distilling industry are working constantly toward that end. They don't want anybody to abuse the use of their product any more than the three of us do."

"If everybody would take that sensible attitude, Judge, and cooperate as more and more are now doing, we'd be a lot better off a lot quicker."

Irish Mentor Digs Deep in Bag, Pulls Out Defensive Ace

Marty Wendell, Chicago Foe of "Buddy" Young, Bolsters Rambler Cause

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Time plodded on for Coach Ed McKeever of Notre Dame today. The young grid mentor of the country's No. 1 team was ready—and more than willing—to spring an unheralded defensive fullback on Illinois tomorrow when he meets what probably will be the toughest of his assignments thus far in an unbeaten season.

But he was marking time until Navy V-12 instructors get around to posting marks in recent examinations.

The halfback is Marty Wendell, a freshman from Chicago—"the only defensive man I ever saw I was afraid to let scrimmage against the varsity," McKeever said today in an interview.

"He may be the difference in that game. He's the only player I have who I think can stop Buddy Young and Paul Patterson."

McKeever referred to those two dusky Illini speedsters whose anticipated meeting with Notre Dame, Bob Kelly & Co., is expected to bring a record crowd of 70,000 to Champaign tomorrow.

The Ramblers have had fairly easy pickings thus far, knocking off Pitt, Tulane, Dartmouth and Wisconsin, while, comparatively, "under wraps."

McKeever's worries about Wendell apparently are not unfounded. Early in the season he hit two varsity halfbacks so hard, on consecutive plays in practice, that both were retired for several days. Last year he stopped Young cold in the "Kelly Bowl," Chicago's city championship game, the only prep backer-up ever to do it, and because of it, Wendell and his St. George high won the city title.

Meanwhile, McKeever admitted he was "worried to death" about the Illini. That, despite the fact his Irish juggernaut has been made an early 5-2 choice to take this hurdle on the road to another possible national title.

The Illini, however, expected the return of Eddie Bray, another fleet back who has helped to make Illinois offense probably the fastest in the country. Return of Bray, who has been sidelined with injuries, would give Coach Ray Eliot full strength for the game, one of the nation's top grid attractions this weekend.

McKeever's worry about that fast Illini backfield, and its explosive scoring potentialities is understandable in view of the record. Coach Eliot's charges have scored 229 points, for a 38-point average, in six games. That's lower than Notre Dame's 44-points-per-game, but it doesn't brand Illinois as anybody's door-mat.

Notre Dame appears to hold a decided edge in the first team line, and McKeever has indicated he would forego his usual system of "unit" substitutions—a whole new team at one time—this week to prevent possible weaknesses that might let Young, Patterson & Co., through.

Meanwhile, he had another worry on his mind. His ace halfback, Bob Kelly, has been talking the same V-12 examinations as Wendell. If he passed—and McKeever says he is a good student and couldn't miss—he will be transferred by the Navy soon. But Kelly has been anticipating a Navy appointment, believed to be to Annapolis. If the appointment comes through, he'll stay here the rest of the season.

Ticket officials predict tomorrow's encounter may lure a throng larger than the record crowd of 69,509 which witnessed the Illini defeat Army, 37-7, in 1929.

Peter Pipers lost their one-game lead in the Commercial league and went into a tie for the top spot with Carsons "66" with 13 wins and 8 losses when they lost all three of their games to the Dixon Telegraph. Elvin Wadsworth was high for the Newsies with 469 and Al Vorhis led the Town Housers with 509.

To gain their share of first Carsons managed to salvage one tilt from Lloyds, with Barger rolling 387 for the latter and Rollie Ommen's 506 high for the Oilmen.

Three Aces went into a tie for third with Reynolds Wire at 11-10 by winning Dixon Hatcher's with 477. Dempsey was high for Three Aces with 477 and John Smith rolled 539 to lead Sparky's.

To gain their share of third Reynolds Wire took all three of its games from Dixon Hatcher's with 477. Dempsey was high for Three Aces with 477 and John Smith rolled 539 to lead Sparky's.

Reynolds Wire rolled a new high series with 2979 and "Rainbow" Rhinehart tied the high game mark with 224 in his second set. Other high games were McCollum 212, and Ommen 200.

The top teams in the Lincoln Lanes Men's league all fell victims to the underdogs last night with five of the squads ending in a tie for first with wins and 5 losses. Prindle's took picks on Pahnke Controllers by taking two with Gleason's 469 high for Prindleville and Osborne rolling 480 to lead Pahnke's.

Warners handed Shimmers a two game loss with Chuck Emmert's 532 high for Warners and Johnson high for Shimmers with 457.

Country Hicks won two from Schulte's Hay Seeds with Morris high for the Hicks with 482 and Hackbarth leading Schulte's with 443.

Bowers was the only three time winner of the night, taking all of their games from Erzingers. Heaton topped Bowers with 461 and Pat Patterson led Erzingers with 407.

Pete Miller rolled a new high game with 241 and C. Morris had the only other high game with 203 in his first effort. Chuck Emmert rolled a new high series with 532.

In the Commercial league, Oscar Witzleb's 137 and Sparky Campbell's 469 took over the spots in the Doghouse and in the Lincoln Lanes' our 91 last game and a tie for 327 sets a new low for the week, which is particularly mortifying coming last night when we had such a wonderful opportunity to make a little mention of Willard Jones' 387 and Harold Hoelscher's 364. We only hope the legions that have turned in low series this year will remember how we sympathized with them when they had bad nights. Especially Chippy Rosbrook.

By BOB FALLSTROM

TONIGHT:

It's the Dukes opposite Hall's Redmen tonight (8 o'clock) at Spring Valley. . . Holding one triumph in five starts, the Lindellmen wind up the season's activities with tonight's tilt. . . Fackie Bill Boenne may edge into a starting berth before game time. . . Bill's knee seems to be ready for full time action. . . Left End Dick Brown, pre-game choice, hasn't played a single minute this fall. . . His wrist was fractured in a scrimmage with Rock Falls prior to opening night. . . Incidentally, Ronnie Sharkey, Hall's seatback, raced through Princeton for five touchdowns and three conversions early this fall, accounting for every point in a 33-13 victory.

SPORTS COMEBACK:

Wrestling seems to have made a sensational comeback, if the rabid crowd attending the Sterling coliseum card last night is any indication.

A fairly large conglomeration, particularly feminine, cheered their hearts out as the wrestlers grunted and tugged all over the ring. The fans especially voiced their approval (and disapproval) for an Australian tag team match. In this bout, Al Williams and Miguel Torres rough-tumbled their way to victory over Kid Chapman and Gordon Hessel.

The Great Moezuma exhibited some savage tactics in out-pointing The Great Mophisto, Cleveland headliner, in the feature bout of the evening. Big Pete, Rock Falls' pride, out-generated Johnny Holda to get the card off to a fine beginning.

But after viewing the spectacle, we kinda think the promoters should have billed the clashes as boxing. . . not wrestling!

SUGGESTION:

Speaking of wrestling, "Friday" Shultz is big enough to be a wrestler if he decides to give up bowling, which he may do after his 327 series last night. From the way he was grunting and groaning about his series, he already has part of the qualifications.

PREDICTIONS:

On the strength of a .754 average (29 right, eight wrong), we again give you tomorrow's winners in advance:

Illinois over Notre Dame (just a hunch!).

Ohio State over Michigan.

Indiana over Iowa.

Great Lakes over Wisconsin.

Iowa Seabawks over Marquette.

Pennsylvania over Navy. (Another hunch).

Missouri over Nebraska.

Army over Duke.

Tulane over S. M. U.

Dartmouth over Brown.

Columbia over Colgate.

Texas over Rice.

Iowa State over Kansas State.

Alabama over Kentucky.

Clemson over Tennessee.

California over Washington.

Penn State over W. Virginia.

Yale over Rochester.

SHORT SHOTS:

East high school officials expect 9,000 fans to jam 15th avenue stadium tonight for the East-West classic.

Clinton (Ia.) trampled Stirling's frosh-soph outfit 20-7 Wednesday afternoon.

WIND will bring its listeners exclusive final period broadcasts of 25 home Blackhawk hockey games this winter. . . Bert Wilson and Jack Ryan, sports sage of the Daily News, will handle the play-by-play.

John Harrington will report the Notre Dame-Illini battle at Champaign tomorrow p. m. via WBBM. . . Add goofy names: Lally's Alleys—kegling establishment at Amboy.

PREP NOTEBOOK:

Rock Island and Galesburg send their undefeated high school grid juggernauts crashing against each other tonight in a showdown for northwest dominance that fires statewide interest.

Rock Island has run up 186 points to Galesburg's 112 and both teams have allowed opponents 32 points in six previous triumphs. More than 5,000 spectators are expected to attend the top drawer meeting at Galesburg.

It's hard to block out John Hall, star tackle of Morrison's Mallets, who are unbeaten by five state rivals so far. John (no relation to the Hollywood scrapper) stands 6 feet 5 inches, weighs 194 pounds and wears size 14½ shoes.

Jimmy Flints has counted 75 of Salem's 172 points. . . Louie "Zoo" Azar of Harrisburg has a 13-yard rushing average and 81 points to his credit. . . Farmington high school's Farmers, who conquered Knoxville Tuesday, have a regular tackle named Ted Farmer.

Joe Sweeney	175
Leo Miller	174
Al Vorhis	174
Ken DeWeller	173
Frank Lessner	173
Al Wolfe	173

Following the Major league the I. N. U. takes over the drives with the high ten lining up as follows:

D. Bennett	171
R. Byers	158
H. Schertner	155
W. Leiving	153
L. Hofer	152
L. Figgis	152
L. Funn	152
D. Chapman	152
C. Knox	151
E. Hilliker	119

The latest report we have on the Sweeney-Biggart vs. Willard Jones feud is that Joe and Jim refuse to consider a match until Willard is able to roll 500 or better, which is probably an impossible qualification.

"Ducky" Shooting Campaign Opens

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The "duckiest" shooting season in two decades is winging its way toward U. S. nimrods.

Some 140,000,000 waterfowl, biggest crop in 20 years are expected in the states next week from Canada's duck factory, beating the big north-of-the-border freeze by a few days.

Ducks Unlimited, the sportsman-supported organization which aids and abets the breeding of ducks in 1,200,000 acres of dominion territory, announced today through Executive Secretary Ray Benson that the early flight of teal, pin tails and mallards was already on its way and that some shooting has been had in border states where the season opened a month ago.

But the heavy firing—and the good eating—are still to come in the form of northern mallards, blue hills and canvas backs, along with the huge geese known to the trade as "honkers."

Last year, Benson disclosed, the water fowl flight consisted of 125,000,000. About 18,000,000 fell before the booming shotguns of a million and a quarter marksmen. That means that for every one killed, seven others (including the ones at which you and I fired) winged on to winter in the southland.

Ducks Unlimited, credited with much of the growth in duck population through its breeding ground restoration and management program, has produced ducks at a cost of about three cents each, Benson said.

Iowa Seabawks Face Marquette in Sunday Tilt

Chicago, Oct. 27.—(AP)—LA. Cntr. Jack Meagher's Iowa Seabawks, one of the nation's outstanding service teams who are riding the crest of a five-game victory wave, will provide homecoming opposition for Marquette—pushed around by Michigan, Purdue and Wisconsin—on Sunday.

The Hawks, who garnered a 46-19 victory last fall from the Hilltoppers, already have rolled over Minnesota, Olathe (Kan.) Naval Air Base, the Second Air Force Super-Bombers, Purdue and Fort Warren. In the first start of the season the Pre-Fighters bowed to Michigan, 12-7.

Outstanding in yesterday's Seabawk drill was the work of reserve linemen John Anderson, Du-luth, Minn., James Blair, Dayton, O., and Dick Ramlow, Wisconsin tackle last year, who has been shifted to center, also is being groomed at the probable successor to George

Evening Guild Is Organized at St. Luke's Church

A new organization for business women and others who cannot take part in afternoon meetings of St. Luke's parish women, was formed recently and at the second meeting of the group last evening in the Guild room of the church, it was agreed to be known as St. Luke's Evening Guild.

After a business meeting, Mrs. Ethel Hawkins was introduced as the speaker for the evening and talked of her experiences while making her home in France for six and one-half years. She told an interesting story of her business experiences while heading the advertising department of a famous cosmetic company, which did advertising in most of the countries of Europe, aside from others throughout the world.

Mrs. Hawkins' listeners were entertained, also, with her stories of meeting many well known personalities, and of her visits to famous resorts and towns that are now in the news almost daily.

Following her talk, the hostesses, Mrs. James Ketchin, Miss Katherine Wright and Miss Dorothy Armstrong, served refreshments from a table decorated in Halloween motif. Mrs. Joseph C. Mason presided.

Officers of the new organization are Mrs. Gene Harvey, president; Miss Dorothy Armstrong, vice president; Miss Katherine Wright, secretary, and Mrs. James Ketchin, treasurer. Mrs. Ethel Hawkins heads the program committee and her assistants include Miss Ann Eustace and Miss Naomi Wolf. Mrs. Jack Little is chairman of the hostess committee and will be aided by Mrs. E. R. Austin, Mrs. Robert Davis and Miss Gertrude Kirkpatrick.

Meetings will be held on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month and any women of the parish are invited to attend. Mrs. George Fries will be the next hostess at her home, 304 Dixon avenue, on Thursday, Nov. 9, at 7:45 o'clock. Her assisting hostesses will be Miss Barbara Campbell and Mrs. Hawkins.

He was in business as an advertising artist in Chicago for more than 20 years, specializing in color work for national accounts in principal national magazines, before coming to GROF in September, 1942. He is a past president of the Chicago Guild of Free Lance Artists and also past president of the North Shore Art Guild. The club's art department is sponsoring Saturday's meeting.

Teachers Hear Talks on Early Illinois Schools

An interesting program was given for the Retired Teachers club on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Miss Flora Seals. The life of John F. Baggett, who for 60 years as a teacher in country and city schools of Illinois, was reviewed by Miss Dora Bread.

John Baggett, a poor orphan boy with a great love for the beautiful and finer things of life, had a burning desire for learning and to be a teacher. His foster parents were unsympathetic towards these ambitions and gave him no help. Nevertheless, he became a great teacher of whom it might almost be said, never went to school. Many progressive ideas began in his schoolroom and later spread throughout the nation.

W. H. Brewster told of the conditions and some of his experiences while teaching in the Lake school, near Harmon, more than 50 years ago. This was his first school in Lee County.

The history of the Prairieville school, since its beginning in 1841, was given by Mr. Seals. Mention was also made of the Oak Forest school in 1870, which dates back to the early 1850's. Both these schools started in private homes.

The first school L. W. Miller, another member of the club, attended as a boy, was in district 144 in Willow Creek. Pictures were shown at the meeting of this and also of the Twin Grove school near Searboro, where he was first called "teacher" in 1888.

From a paper read by Miss Edna Burham on the subject of "Superstition," the group learned that superstitions beliefs came out of the early years of man's development and date back to his primitive beginning of life. It has been demonstrated that there is no scientific or valid basis or purpose of reason for single superstition.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brewster will entertain the club in Nov.

Multiple Magic

Wardrobe magic which girls are wise to these days is that of multiplying one outfit to make many. Taking three basic units, such as are ensembled in the outfit above of blue and brown plaid skirt, brown shetland blazer and blue blouse of rayon rayon a girl can ring in changes by replacing skirt with slacks or switching top interest with a weskit a loafer jacket or a pekin.

Making a fashion come-back this season is the tiered dress. The halter top of Nicole's tiered model has a most refreshingly new look. But height-creating tiers are for tall girls only, the designer warns.

The plum color of the crepe dress is picked up in the luxurious "shirt" of plum and silver-striped lame.

Topping it off is a high-flying hat of duobonnet felt, sparkling with metallic-tipped ostrich feather pompons, which mirror the ensemble's rich colors.

Only Remaining Sons May Gain Releases
Washington, Oct. 26—(AP)—The Army today promised "sympathetic consideration" to applications for returning to, or retaining in, the United States, the sole surviving son of any family in battle, except where the surviving son is on "non-hazardous duty."

Secretary of War Stimson announced the policy at a news conference. He said he had become aware of "tragic cases where a family sent two, three or four sons to service and lost all but one." This new policy, Stimson said, is "in recognition of the sacrifice and contribution made by such families."

The formal announcement said: "Sympathetic consideration will be given to every application, in cases of families who have lost two or more sons and have only one surviving, for return of the survivor to this country for duty here or for discharge from the Army, if the circumstances warrant. However, each case will be decided upon its individual merits."

"In all cases of extreme hardship arising from family circumstances the Army has in the past co-operated to provide relief from active duty or discharge if the complaint has been found to have merit upon investigation. The plan of removing men from the hazards of combat activity is an extension of this policy."

State's Little Red School Houses Head Toward Drastic Cut

Voluntary Reduction Expected to Slice Hundreds of Units

By JOHN F. TEMPLE
Springfield, Ill., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Illinois more than 8,600 one-room country schools—highest number in the nation—appear headed for the most drastic change in their history.

Since 1910 the total has decreased by 1,100. Within a few years only hundreds may be left. The reduction probably will be voluntary rather than legislative-imposed. But, gaining momentum from the war years, it will mean establishment of larger school units in areas where such units will best serve the needs of affected persons.

"It will not mean wiping out of all one-room schools," says C. C. Byerly, first assistant state superintendent of public instruction.

The state superintendent's office is against universal, compulsory consolidation of school districts.

"But we don't believe, either, in a home rule that provides 12,000 one-room districts with many of them training only three or four pupils," Byerly said.

Until 1940 one-room schools held their own pretty well in Illinois against gradually more insistent raising of educational and lay eyebrows.

Now, however, they face three urgent problems:

1. A record teacher shortage that educators say won't be eased until after the war. Last year the five state teacher colleges were training fewer than 40 rural education specialists.

2. Mounting expenses. Many schools are spending more than their total income for salaries alone.

3. A turning off of coolly appraising eyes by rural residents themselves on the traditionally revered "little red schoolhouse."

In this the Illinois Agricultural Association is taking a leading role.

"You can't justify consolidation of schools on the basis of economy," said Byerly. "Large schools generally cost more. But they're generally worth it because they can offer more to the pupil."

Specialized instruction, for instance, in art, music, physical education and manual training ordinarily is not available in one room schools. Such advantages along with most effective health supervision and aid to physically handicapped children, usually are available only for pupils of larger units.

The state's teacher shortage likely would "very nearly disappear" if rural instructors more nearly approached their maximum teaching capacity, says Lester Grimm, research specialist for the Illinois Education Association.

"A strong rural teacher can easily train 20 pupils," he said. State aid claim reports show that in 1943 some 1,400 Illinois schools had fewer than five pupils in average daily attendance. About 4,700 schools had fewer than ten. A few had but one or two.

While Illinois is resisting the so-called reorganization trend many other states slashed their total of one room schools. Indiana, for instance, dropped from 5,396 in 1918 to 373 in 1942, and Ohio from 8,326 to 732.

The small one room school still finds local champions. Look at the great leaders who are products of such institutions, they say. Consider their independence and self-reliance, their fine knowledge of the fundamentals of education.

Opponents of the tiny one room school also doff their hats to such leaders—and say they would be even more numerous if some country schools enjoyed advantages that may come with larger school units.

New Yorkers Greet First Snowfall Today

Granite City Yank, Cited for Heroism, Home from Pacific

Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Wearing the Purple Heart, a Distinguished Unit badge and the Combat Infantryman's badge, awarded for exemplary conduct in action against the enemy, Pfc. Theodore F. Schwartz, 25, Granite City, Ill., has returned to the United States after 30 months in the Southwest Pacific.

Schwartz, a rifleman in an assault company of the 2nd Infantry Division, was wounded at Buna when a Japanese mortar shell struck only eight yards from him, killing his buddy.

"A piece of steel got me in the neck," the Illinois infantryman said. "The shell's concussion knocked my rifle out of my hand and hurled it several yards away from me. I walked over and picked up my rifle and fired the rest of my ammunition at Jap snipers before I went to find a medical aid man to get my wound treated."

Expert medical attention rendered Schwartz "as good as new" in a few days, he said. He returned to the front line, where, near the climax of the Buna campaign he had another narrow escape when he was caught in an artillery barrage.

"Shells kept straddling me," he said. "First they hit on one side of me, then on the other, and I kept wondering when the Japs would zero in on me and blow me up. It's a funny thing. I had been scared a lot of times, and any soldier who tells you that he never was scared is kidding. But this time I wasn't nervous. I just lay there in the kumal grass waiting, and when the barrage lifted I found I was still all in one piece. I wasn't even sweating."

Schwartz said in his opinion what made the Japs particularly hard to beat, in addition to their fanatical determination to fight to the death, was the extreme mobility of their weapons.

"They can put a lot of fire power on any given point in a hurry," he explained. "For one thing, they have an automatic rifle which doesn't weigh more than seven pounds, including the tripod. They filter through the jungle with weapons like that, and it really takes some doing to knock them out."

"The doughboys down there are thankful, though, that all told our weapons are a lot better than the Japs'. I've seen dozens of Jap grenades that were duds, and sometimes their mortar shells just chuff into the ground without doing any damage. We can be sure that our grenades and shells always are going to explode, and that's why there have been a lot

PAGING JUNIOR
Coffeyville, Kan., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Sgt. Hammond L. Cartledge and Pfc. Richard E. Cleaves, mail clerks, were stymied when they received a letter from a Bartlesville, Okla., girl addressed only to "Junior, RTU, (PR) Coffeyville, Kansas."

So they asked every man at mail calls if he was known as "Junior" in Bartlesville. Blushing Pvt. Robert J. Salzer admitted he was.

POLITICAL PLAYGROUND
Chicago, Oct. 27.—(AP)—A nursery has been added to the political headquarters of John T. Dempsey, Republican nominee for Cook county state's attorney.

Dempsey said because many volunteer workers with small children were unable to get help to care for them during the day, he decided to set up a complete playground in his offices. Then he told the workers to bring in their children and let them play.

LUCKY BIRD
Shelton, Neb., Oct. 27.—(AP)—George N. Mortimer was busy in his machine shop when he heard a fluttering sound, looked up to see a pheasant fly in to pay him a visit.

Mortimer, a collector of guns, more dead Japs in New Guinea than dead GIs.
Schwartz, who received his basic training at the infantry replacement training center, Camp Roberts, Calif., planned to spend a furlough in Granite City with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Schwartz.

Georing's Forest Suite Occupied by Red Army

Moscow, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Reichsmarshal Herman Goering's favorite hunting lodge in the Rominten Heide of East Prussia was captured virtually intact with its wine cellar well stocked with French champagne, the army newspaper Red Star reported today.

The Rominten Heide was the favorite deer forest of Kaiser Wilhelm II and of the German nobility.

Illinois Oldsters Well Taken Care of Springfield, Ill., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Illinois is providing aid for a higher percentage of its older citizens than any other industrial state except Michigan, Raymond M. Hilliard, Illinois Public Aid Commission Director, reported today.

Twenty-three per cent of Illinois residents eligible by age are receiving old age pensions, Michigan provides for 24 per cent. In other industrial states from eight to 20 per cent of the population 65 years of age or over receive allowances.

Illinois pays higher average monthly allowances than the other industrial states except Connecticut, Massachusetts and New York but these states give allowances to smaller percentages of their older citizens.

As employment conditions improved, Illinois was the last important industrial state to reduce its old age assistance rolls, Hilliard said.

Illinois was one of the first states to show improved economic conditions, he said, but its first pension roll decrease came in November, 1942, when the roll reached its peak before that, 31 other states had slashed their lists.

Wrong Way Allen
He Talks One Way But-- He Votes The Other Way

Mr. Congressman,

With Election Near, you advertise always having advocated United States cooperation with other nations to maintain Peace. Congressional Records, however, show that you have consistently voted Isolationist. You voted against:

Arms Embargo	Draft Extension
Neutrality Revision	Lift Belligerent Zones
Lend Lease	Arming Merchant Ships, etc.

I challenge you to name one National Defense Bill for which you voted before Pearl Harbor.

Why did you vote against fortifying Guam with a Naval Base? Why did you fail to vote for war on Germany after Germany had already declared war on us? Even as late as 1943 you voted against continuing the existing government in the Philippines, which government just landed with MacArthur.

Your brand of isolationism includes abandonment of island bases so necessary to the future defense of our Country.

Voters, Let's Look at the Congressional Records. You can find them in your City Library and Schools.

Vote for GARRET J. SCHUTT
Representative in Congress
